Jury Exonerates Auto Driver

Exonerating the youthful driver of the car in which Henry Heikkinen, 63, Sylvan Lake farmer, received injuries which resulted in his death in the Olds General Hospital June 19, a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of non-negligence at the inquest held in Olds Monday afternoon.

The fatal crash occurred near Carstairs on the evening of June 18. The car had four occupants, Hagle Staudinger, driver, Sylvan Lake; Vester Neimi, Eckville; Mrs. Mary Staudinger and Henry Heikkinen, both of Sylvan Lake. Mrs. Staudinger is still confined to the Didsbury Hospital recovering from injuries. She was riding in the back seat of the car with deceased at the time of the accident.

Coroner Dr. C. C. Hartman, Olds, conducted the inquest, while Sergeant J. N. Cawsey, R.C.M.P., Calgary, and Constable W. J. Dick, R.C.M.P., Olds, examined the witnesses.

Summer Pageant.

A glorious "Welcome to Summer" was given at the Evangelical Church Sunday evening when a pageant and program were presented by the Sunday School in celebrating Children's Day.

The interior of the church was garnished with a rich supply of flowers loaned for the occasion by members of the congregation. Alternating with anthems by the choir, the children of the pageant, carrying baskets of flowers and costumed to represent birds, flowers and butterflies, appeared gracefully in songs and recitations. About 35 took part, their ages ranging from 3 to 11 years, with three older girls personifying Summer, Queen of the Flowers, and the Angel Messenger.

During a talk by the superintendent, Mr. H. M. Reiber, he remarked that it was the 55th anniversary of the observation of Children's Day by the Evangelical Church.

Miss Alice Pearson Guest-of-Honor

The Misses Bea Kendrick and Wynne Studer were joint hostesses Saturday afternoon during the tea-hur at the former's home in honor of Miss Alice Pearson, who leaves in July for Sydney, Australia, where she will be married to Mr. J. Hillop.

Lilac, honeysuckle and columbine were arranged in lovely confusion around the room, and the beautifully appointed teatable was centred with a silver basket of lilacs. Those assisting in serving were Mrs. R. Berscht, Miss Flo Reiber and Miss Irene Bellamy.

Miss Pearson was the recipient of numerous beautiful gifts.

Celebrate Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Durrer celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Monday evening, when sixty guests were present and dancing was enjoyed.

The lunch table was beautifully decorated with carnations and lilac and was surmounted with a large wedding cake.

They were recipients of numerous gifts, which included a tea set from a number of friends and a silver service from the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Durrer were married in Didsbury on June 20th, 1910 and have resided in Didsbury ever since. There are six children to the union, three daughters: Mrs. Walter Pratt, Eileen and Lorraine; and three sons: Alfred, Frank and Eugene.

We join with their friends in wishing them many more years of happy married life.

Farewell Reception.

A large number of the friends and adherents of Knox United Church gathered in the church auditorium last Wednesday night to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hillyard, who left this week to take up residence at Penticton, B.C.

With Mr. H. W. Chambers as chairman a splendid program of readings, vocal and instrumental numbers was enjoyed, after which Mr. J. A. McGhee presented Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard with a very beautiful tea wagon as a token of the regard and high esteem both Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard commanded in the church.

For number of years Mr. Hillyard was a member of the board of managers, while Mrs. Hillyard devoted a great deal of time to the Sunday School, Choir and Ladies Aid. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard will be sorely missed in the church circles, and every good wish for their happiness and prosperity in their new home is extended them by their many friends.

Following the presentation, to which Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard replied, a delicious lunch was served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

WEDDINGS

McCOY—HUNSPERGER.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Calgary on Wednesday, June 12, when Lottie Twila, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Hunsperger, was united in marriage to James Delbert McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy, of Carstairs. Rev. M. Ing performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy will reside in Carstairs.

BRADO—SHANTZ

About fifty guests met to enjoy a very pleasant event at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Shantz on Saturday afternoon, June 22, 1935, when their daughter, Charlotte Alda became the bride of Mr. Charles Noah Brado.

A beautiful arch of lilac and honeysuckle had been erected on the front verandah. Beneath the arch the bride and groom took their places, while Miss Ruby Shantz played the Wedding March. The bride was lovely in a dress of white crepe with a tulle veil and orange-blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was given in marriage by her father and was accompanied by her sister, Marie, who wore tea-rose crepe, with white hat, and carried gladiolas and ferns. The groom was supported by Mr. Harvey Wideman, while little Phyllis Rand, niece of the groom, made a sweet little flower-girl in a pale green organdie dress and hat.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. F. Vincett, assisted by Rev. O. Snyder, Miss Enith Hunsperger sang a solo. The guests then enjoyed a delicious wedding dinner, at the close of which the 3-tier wedding cake was served, which had been beautifully decorated by Mrs. Lloyd Snyder, cousin of the groom.

The bride and groom were recipients of many lovely gifts and amid congratulations and best wishes left for an extended honeymoon in the east. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm east of Didsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morton returned from their honeymoon trip to Banff on Tuesday evening.

Leaders And Critics

In the face of enormous difficulties, which are the direct outcome of the Great War and the aftermath of depression following that terrible struggle, as more or less similar conditions have followed every great war in history, recognized leaders of men in all nations are striving mightily to bring order out of disorder and start the world on the road of progress and prosperity. Men are breaking down because of the burdens of responsibility they are carrying, and they are wearing themselves out mentally and physically in the effort to serve their fellow countrymen and the world.

In his almost superhuman struggle to maintain peace in Europe, and in his untiring efforts to promote disarmament, Ramsay MacDonald has become a much older man than his years. Reports that he must relinquish the premiership are now rife.

In Canada, Hon. R. B. Bennett has for five years devoted his every waking moment to the duties and responsibilities of government. People may criticize his policies and his methods, they may say he should have divided responsibility to a far greater extent with his cabinet colleagues instead of shouldering so much of the burden himself. But no one can say that as Prime Minister he has not given himself wholeheartedly and energetically to the discharge of the public duties and responsibilities placed in his care. As a result he has had a serious breakdown in health, may have to retire, and he has unquestionably considerably shortened his life.

Ex-President Hoover and President Roosevelt aged far beyond their years in office; the same can be said of the leaders of other nations, and it is true of men not only in the Federal arena in Canada but in the provinces and in municipal affairs. The strain is terrific, and men everywhere are paying the price. Yet they carry on because it is their duty to do so, and because they are sincerely desirous of rendering service to their country and fellowmen.

Probably because the great mass of people have difficulties and worries of their own to contend against and face, few of them give thought and little consideration to the manifold and gigantic problems which leaders in government everywhere are endeavoring to solve. Rather, men in public life are the targets for all kinds of missiles of abuse and criticism, and their task is made much more difficult by the carping complaints of men of less calibre and by demagogues and agitators who take advantage of the prevailing situation to stir up the unthinking masses for their own selfish and ulterior motives and designs.

Recently in a little known publication there appeared one of the type of articles which make a sane man disgusted. The writer thereof urged people to read history. He declared that in every great crisis heretofore, and everywhere, a man had arisen to lead the way out, and he cited that "Moses, Christ, Pym, Abraham Lincoln, were real leaders because they did new things, utterly regardless of what had been done before." He then added that at Ottawa two Neros, meaning Mr. Bennett and Mr. King, are floundering while the economic capital burns. Surely, he says, after five years of labor Canada should at last bring forth a man.

This writer cites Moses. He was a great leader, but his people turned against him, commenced the worship of false idols, a calf of gold, and paid the penalty of forty years wandering in the wilderness.

The writer speaks of the Christ. He was the world's greatest leader of all time. Yet the people of his day rejected him and demanded his death.

Abraham Lincoln was a leader, but throughout his life was criticized and vilified, accused of being a partizan, and died at the hands of an assassin.

History applauds these leaders, and their names will live forever, but in their day and generation they were despised and rejected by many, the objects of criticism and derision, and their work for humanity made difficult by the spite and hatred of other so-called leaders who played upon the ignorance, the emotions and the selfishnesses of the masses.

These leaders have made mistakes. Of course they have, because they are human with all the limitations and frailties of human beings. But many of their mistakes were not of their own volition, but were forced upon them by the acts of others, either not so sincere and high minded or who with less vision and ability adopted policies and followed courses of action which compelled others to steps which the latter knew to be mistaken but nevertheless had to be taken to avoid some possibly greater mistake and disaster.

The present is a time for patience and tolerance. It is no time for any well meaning person to be rocking the ship. That should be left to the wholly misguided and the irresponsible agitators. Constructive criticism is in order, and it is always welcomed by those entrusted with grave responsibilities. But Canada should give short shift to all carping critics who merely seek to destroy what others are striving to reconstruct and build up stronger and better.

A Silver Jubilee Gift

Merchants Serving Royal Family Build House For King

King George, who already owns a palace, a castle and two huge estates, has received a house as a Silver Jubilee present. It is a gift of the Royal Warrant Holders' Association, whose members have served the royal household with groceries, furniture and everything else, and who are entitled to display the royal coat of arms over their stores.

The architect is C. Beresford Marshall, a young and comparatively unknown designer of thirty-six years, who up to now has been designing luxury apartments on the American plan for London.

Marshall's design is something like the American Colonial style without the pillars. It is being built at Burhill, Surrey, about thirty miles from London, on the estate of Lord Iveagh.

There is one principal bedroom and two guest rooms, with two double rooms for maids and a chauffeur's room.

The design was chosen by the King in consultation with Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

It is not likely, however, that the King will live in the house. In such cases he usually makes a present of the life-tenancy of the house to some minor member of the royal family, or to a high court official who is retiring from his service.

HE FELT MISERABLE AFTER MEALS

Acute Indigestion Relieved By Kruschen

The treatment which put this man right must surely be worth trying in every case of indigestion. Read what he says:—

"Two years ago I suffered very much from indigestion, loss of appetite, and a most severe pain in my back. Food soured in my stomach. I felt most miserable after meals, and had no desire or appetite for them. A friend advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I did so, and I am most happy to testify that after a short time I felt the greatest relief. I continued taking Kruschen till I felt myself quite better and a new man. I feel as light-hearted as I did twenty years ago."—W. B.

What Kruschen did for him it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that "the little daily dose" of Kruschen first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures a complete, regular and unflinching elimination of all waste matter every day.

Japan Afraid Ancient Clocks May Soon Be Sold

Fears that the famous "Daimyo no Tokai" collection of timepieces, once owned by leading Daimyo together with old books on the subject of clocks, will soon be lost to Japan, is being expressed by Japanese newspapers. The clocks have been known as the Takabayashi collection, and have been kept at the Tokyo Museum of Science for many years. They were recently offered for sale, and an American collector offered $15,000 for them, a bid which was increased by a British resident in Kobe. It is not believed that the collection has actually been sold, but it is feared that if the intention to sell becomes widely known collectors in Europe and America will offer such a price that the owner will part with them.

Serfdom Abolished

By New Decree Ethiopia Advanced In Civilization By 1,000 Years

Emperor Haile Selassie issued a decree abolishing serfdom throughout Ethiopia and equalizing the system of land taxation.

An announcement said the masses acclaimed the step and added that the abolition of unequal land taxation would advance Ethiopia 1,000 years in civilization.

Ethiopia for centuries was one of the most profitable centres of the African slave trade and while other countries gradually abolished the traffic, the institution remained in that country even after its admission to the League of Nations. In recent years slavery there has taken the form of forced labor and "debt peonage."

Open Golf Tournament

International Event To Be Held At Fonthill, Ont.

"We are leaving no stone unturned," stated President Allan Brooks, K.C., of the Lookout Point Golf Club, "to make the course and clubhouse as nearly perfect as possible for the holding of the General Brock Hotel Open Tournament at Fonthill, Ont., on July 11, 12 and 13. We recognize that this event is attracting international attention and that in all probability the entry list will be one of the largest ever seen in an event of this kind in America. The committee in charge of the tournament are just as enthusiastic as I am and have wholeheartedly endorsed the changes and improvements which will be necessary and particularly those suggested by B. L. Anderson, tournament manager, after his recent inspection of the course."

Among the changes to the course will be the lengthening of all tees so that each day will demand a slightly different shot depending on whether the markers are on the front, centre or back of the tees. All greens are to be aproned extending some thirty or forty feet in front of them and there will be a six-foot closely clipped fringe around all putting surfaces. All bunkers are to be renovated and filled with new sand and each one of them will be furrowed for the championship. As a precaution against accidents the bridge leading to the 18th green is to be reinforced because of the large number of spectators anticipated, and furthermore, several of the important greens will be roped off, particularly the 9th and 18th. An attractive new entrance gate is to be constructed and elaborate preparations for catering are being made under the personal direction of Vernon G. Cardy, president of the General Brock Hotel.

For the 18 weeks of 1935 ended May 2, the total number of hogs graded in Canada was—graded alive at stock yards, 383,664; alive at packing plants, 709,726, and by carcass 21,652, a total of 1,115,042. For the corresponding weeks of 1934, the number was 1,160,223.

Inventor Tells London Audience Vertical Flying Is No Longer A Fictitious Dream, But A Reality

Vertical flying is no longer a dream, but a reality. Such, at least, was the contention of Senor Juan de la Cierva, the inventor of the autogyro, when he spoke to the Royal Aeronautical Society recently in London. One of his autogyros has succeeded in taking off the ground without a run, he said.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "I succeeded in leaving the ground without a run as far back as 1933, but the usual secondary troubles did not allow the system to be sufficiently developed to give absolutely conclusive results until now."

"I have the honor," he then declared, "to make public here for the first time that this result is now achieved. The experimental machine was not intended to give a really good performance in leaving the ground, but was more in the nature of a test bench to investigate the principle itself and to perfect the mechanisms used. In spite of this it is perfectly capable of leaving the ground in no wind, with blocks in front of the wheels."

"I want to explain," he added, "that the results obtained, while absolutely conclusive, are still experimental, and prudence forces me to refrain from making any forecast as to how soon they will be obtainable in a practical way."

Further experiments were being conducted, and when fully developed, the autogyro, he felt sure, would be able to jump small houses and trees from a distance of only a few yards. A new experimental machine is to be built, incorporating what has already been discovered.

Senor de la Cierva explained the methods he used. The autogyro, he said, still retained its same characteristics, and was not converted into a helicopter. That is to say, the rotor, or windmill, is not engine-driven while the machine is in flight. The rotor has a system of variable pitch blades, and with the blades set at zero pitch on the ground the engine spins the rotor up to high speed. The engine is then declutched and the pitch of the blades increased to normal and the machine spins itself into the air. Ordinary forward flying is then started by the ordinary engine and air-screw.

Senor de la Cierva explained that the manoeuvre of taking off vertically was a very simple one from the pilot's point of view, easier and more pleasant than the ordinary take-off. "Imminent improvements," he concluded, "will make roof landing a perfectly safe manoeuvre, and I can say we are ready to study any form of application involving flying from small platforms or reduced enclosed spaces."

Battle Against Flu Germ

New Field Of Action Is Found In Alaska

Medical science's battle against the "flu" germ, cause of oft-recurring epidemics the world over, has found a new field of action at Point Barrow, Alaska—where a sudden scourge has claimed several lives.

Sensing the "importance" of any new epidemic, two Philadelphia physicians, Dr. Horace Pettit and Dr. Sergeant Pepper, left Newark, N.J., by plane in a dash to the ice-bound Arctic coast.

The epidemic offers an unusual opportunity to gain valuable new information for that long-sought "cure". Medical men say disease epidemics among natives, unused to civilization's ways, are always apt to be particularly virulent. All but one of the Point Barrow dead were natives.

Hopper Plague

Scientists Believe Trouble From This Pest Is Nearing End

With fears concerning drought and soil drifting allayed for the present, science now masses its forces to lay low an unconquered enemy of the farmer—the grasshopper. Success was predicted as the weatherman allied himself in the fight.

Entomologists believe the five-year reign of the king of farm pests is at an end. The 'hopper plague' started in 1929 and each succeeding year brought new infestations. In 1933 billions of them appeared. Standing crops virtually disappeared overnight.

An organized campaign will be waged, even more intense, if necessary, than last year when approximately $750,000 was set apart by the federal government. A serious outbreak, however, is anticipated only at 38 points compared to 160 at this date last year.

Strip farming and other methods of cultivation have played their part in controlling the invasion. Farm committees have been formed and the three prairie provinces will work as one unit in dispensing poison bait. Trucks will rush the mixture to threatened sectors at the first signs of infestation and officials believe the protective efforts will spell doom to the winged horde and usher in a new farm era.

Champion Butter Eaters

New Zealand's Per Capita Consumption Around 37.7 Pounds

The New Zealander is the world's champion butter eater, the per capita consumption being around 37.7 pounds, while, on the other hand, he puts up a poor showing when it comes to eating cheese, stated the skipper of one of the Canadian National Steamships' freighters in the Canada-New Zealand-Australia service recently arrived in Canada with cargo from the Antipodes. Dairy products account for almost 25 per cent. of the total value of New Zealand's output of all kinds. She established a record in butter production for the year ending July 31, 1934, there being an increase of 9.55 per cent. over the preceding year. Production has been steadily increasing since 1926. New Zealand also piled up another record, in butterfat production, estimated at 220 lbs. per cow as compared with 214.8 the previous season. New Zealand and Australia together supply nearly one-half the butter imports into the United Kingdom, which has doubled its butter imports since 1915. New Zealand's exports are almost wholly to the United Kingdom. There was a slight increase in cheese production.

Reason Drought Is Over

Polar Air Currents Spread Farther South This Year

Why rain should fall by batfals this spring in the central states, baked last year by the worst drought in history, puzzles even the experts.

According to W. P. Day, government forecaster at Chicago, a lucky collision of air currents over Canada has changed the picture. May, without much warning, suddenly repealed the drought.

The Mississippi runs so high that in some towns boats have been ordered to proceed cautiously so as not to spill water over the levees.

"The immediate cause," said Day, is that the polar air currents and the tropical air current met, this year, farther south. Last year they were so far north that the precipitation which resulted never reached the middle west.

Egg Grading Regulations

Co-ordination Of Federal And Provincial Facilities In Respect To Manitoba

Co-ordination of Dominion and provincial facilities in the more effective application of egg-grading regulations in Manitoba has been agreed upon following recent conversations between Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion minister of agriculture, and Hon. D. G. McKenzie, provincial minister, it was stated. Both ministers declared themselves emphatically in support of grading and the carrying of the higher graded return back to the producer.

A statement issued from the department of agriculture said:

"The province, as indicated in its recent activities in this direction, is systematically following up the principle of licensing egg-handlers. It is intended that bonding requirements will shortly be included as well."

"The Dominion Department, through its egg-inspection service, will concentrate on securing accurate and efficient grading, and the uniform application of grading through all channels of trade."

Training That Is Valuable

Young People Being Taught To Speak Before Public

In drama and oratory it appears to us that the youth of to-day are preparing to excel the older generation greatly. The teaching or oral composition in the high schools has been a worthwhile innovation the past few years. Dramatic societies in schools and in communities are also teaching the young folk expression and skill in handling themselves in public. The art of being able to express oneself well before a group of people is surely a valued accomplishment that many intelligent people today lack, and sorely feel the need of, through a lack of necessary training earlier in life.—St. Marys Journal-Argus.

Zones For Seed Production

Act Passed By B.C. Legislature Will Protect Growers

Zoning for seed production was the purpose of one of the acts passed by the British Columbia Legislature this year. Under this act any community interested in seed production may be protected from cross pollination and such like dangers. This bill, known as the Seed Growers' Protection Act, was devised to facilitate the growing of pure seed of vegetable and field crops. Upon application for such a seed zone, the Governor in Council may appoint a committee who will have complete control over the crops grown in that area. The penalty for non-observance of the committee's rulings is a fine of $100. Only one variety is allowed to be grown in one community, so that for instance, a man who is growing one variety of onions for seed will not have his crop ruined by cross pollination from other varieties. All will grow the same variety.

The petition to form such a zone must be signed by at least sixty per cent. of the land owners in the proposed seed area, which eliminates the lease holders from controlling the situation. The personnel of the committee may be recommended by the applicants, and the minister also names one member. This committee has the power to carry out and enforce the provisions of the act, to employ, direct and supervise such employees as are necessary, to pay the wages of such employees. Funds for this work are provided by the owners of the land in such zone, who are assessed according to requirements.

Canada is making a serious bid for the United States tourist and, in co-operation with the Dominion bureau whose business it is to boost this country's attractions, immigration and customs restrictions have been considerably slackened. Canada wants the tourist, and is prepared to go a long way to induce him to some here.

Tiresome customs routine which not infrequently deterred the foreign sportsman from visiting the country has been eliminated. Motorists coming here equipped with fishing rods, guns, golf clubs, camping material and such like were obliged formerly to declare these on varied and various governmental forms. Now an omnibus permit replaces the proforma and provides for declaration of all items in the visitors outfit.

One more annoyance in the abolition of the guarantee bond required from a tourist desirous of spending more than 90 days in Canada has been removed. Neither bond nor deposit will now be sought, up to a period of six months.

Thus, if a visitor finds the country sufficiently attractive to stop over his initial permit period, he may do so without being required to find someone to stand surety for his good faith.

Permits are no longer required for those who wish to visit Canada for two days. This is a 24-hour extension on the former practice.

Without at all impairing the treasury of the country, Canada has removed embarrassing restrictions relating to baggage and personal effects of tourists. For example, typewriters and similar machines may be admitted free when used for temporary purposes. Smokers will be allowed to bring in with them a maximum of 50 cigars and 200 cigarettes.

Supplementing these arrangements are the instructions that have gone out to customs and immigration officials which, to all intents and purposes, make these officers allies of the tourist bureau. Courtesy is the watchword—courtesy and service.

Apples Go Far Afield

South American The Third Largest Importer Of B.C. Fruit

South America is the third best importer of B.C. apples following Great Britain and Egypt with 40,286 boxes. But unlike Egypt, Brazil and the Argentine want a bright red apple so they insist on the large Delicious. Just as it is difficult to sell a large apple in Great Britain so it is difficult to sell a small apple to the South Americans. They took 38,198 boxes of Delicious and the bulk of the balance was made up of Yellow Newtowns with 1,818 boxes, along with 237 boxes of Spitzenbergs and 15 boxes of Winesaps.

France is the fourth importer of B.C. apples, taking 24,780 boxes, mainly Delicious, 16,613, Yellow Newtowns 5,292 and McIntosh 2,728.

South Africa took 19,395 boxes of B.C.'s 1934 crop, running mainly to Jonathans 12,469 and McIntosh 5,241.

Scandinavia bought 16,181 boxes, of which 14,169 boxes were Jonathans.—Country Life in B.C.

Leads In Hog Production

Alberta Takes First Place Among Canadian Provinces

Holding hog production volume steady for the past three years and greatly improving the quality, Alberta has taken first place among the Canadian provinces for the first time.

Ontario formerly held first place, but her production slumped this year, with 25,000 head below Alberta for the first four months of 1935.

Official federal grading reports show for the first 18 weeks of 1935 that there was graded in Alberta during 1935—338,427 hogs. The same period last year showed 342,995 and in 1933 333,271 hogs.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Make the Camera Your Traveling Companion

Let your camera be your favorite traveling companion. Your vacation and travel snapshots will serve admirably in illustrating letters you write later to relatives and friends.

A member of the Snapshot Guild returned recently from a rather long journey after visiting relatives in many cities. "I had a lovely time visiting and enjoyed the traveling," she wrote, "but one thing took a lot of joy out of my trip. I did not take along my camera. No, I didn't forget it. I simply didn't take it and thought no more about it until I reached my sister's home. Then I discovered something. I have been reading the Snapshot Guild, have taken quite a number of good pictures by following instructions, but didn't realize that I had unconsciously developed an eye for pictures," she continued.

"When I arrived at my sister's home—my first stop—I saw unlimited possibilities for interesting, story-telling pictures. I hadn't seen my little niece Jean since she was a month old and here she was toddling around and getting into all kinds of mischief. I could easily have taken six or eight snapshots of this cute youngster doing all kinds of interesting things."

With the coming of warmer weather and more sunshine we are reaching that time of year when nature is discarding her drab, winter clothes for the bright colors of spring and summer. It is a glorious time of the year.

As the sun becomes brighter and the skies clearer, remember that more and better light will be entering the lens of your camera and reaching your film. Your exposures should be somewhat shorter than in the winter.

Suppose, for instance, that on a day in February you took several pictures of your child as she played in the front yard. If you had a folding camera and the day was of average brightness (with sunlight) for that date, you probably set the lens opening at f.8 and the shutter speed at 1/25 of a second, and got a properly exposed negative. Again, suppose you are taking such a picture to-day. Then what? If the sun is shining brightly and the sky is clear, instead of having the diaphragm set at f.8 and the shutter speed at 1/25 of a second as you did in February, you should do one of two things.

If you leave your lens opening at f.8, your shutter speed should be set at 1/50 of a second. Or, you might set the diaphragm at f.11 and probably get the proper exposure, under average sunlight conditions, with the shutter speed of 1/25 of a second. Personally I recommend the smaller aperture, or lens opening, and the slower shutter speed for the smaller the diaphragm opening the greater the depth of focus. Take advantage of the brighter days. At home and travelling have your camera ready for instant use.

New Deputy of Education.

Appointment is announced of G. Fred McNally to the position of deputy minister of education for Alberta to fill the vacancy caused by the death a few weeks ago of George Gorman. Mr. McNally has been supervisor of schools for a number of years and has been with the department for a period of twenty-six years.

Highway Program.

Paving the way for completion of the all-weather highway to Jasper and for work on the Trans-Canada highway section to Banff, Hon. Geo. Hoadley arranged for a $1,500,000 bank credit in addition to the federal loan of $1,250,000 for relief purposes, while in the east recently. The road projects named are definite portions of the 1935 program, Mr. Hoadley said.

The Calgary-Banff highway, on which repairs were being made, is now capable of travel throughout without detours. Progress is being made on the small remaining sections of the Edmonton Jasper highway, and graveling of these sections will be done in August, when the road will be completed as an all-weather highway. A further section of the Peace River highway north of Edmonton will, it is expected, also be gravelled this season, states Hon. J. J. Mclellan, minister of public works.

Marking All Rivers.

As a matter of information for tourists, both resident and non-resident, the public works department of the province is arranging at the suggestion of Hon. J. J. Mclellan, minister, to place signs on all bridges crossing rivers of any importance, on main highways throughout the province, conveying information as to the names of the rivers.

Junior Grain Clubs.

A total of 139 junior grain clubs have been organized in Alberta this year, with over 2,000 members, compared with 101 clubs in 1934.

Already a Veteran.

"And so your daughter is about to marry. Do you really feel that she is ready for the battle of life?"

"She should be, she's been in several engagements already."

Easy Work.

Most anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days a week, four weeks a month and twelve months a year and edit such "copy" as this: "Mrs. Jones of Lost Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"John Smith wants to sell a good cow that gives two gallons of milk at every milking and a lot of household and kitchen furniture."

Football Meeting

An organization meeting of the proposed Didsbury Football Club was held over the X L Garage on Friday evening last, when the following officers were elected:

Hon. President, J. V. Berscht
Hon. Vice-Presidents, J. E. Gooder and E. G. Ranton

Chairman, W. R. Hartley
Secretary, Roman Holub
Treasurer, Norman Crimmon

The above officers will act as the executive committee.

Selection Committee: W. T. Pitt, F. Kaufman, H. Gabel, J. McDougall, C. E. Reiber, A. G. Studer, J. W. Wordie, J. A. McGhee and W. D. Spence.

Groundsmen: Richard Walder, Roman Holub, Ronald Brightman, and W. R. Hartley.

It was unanimously decided that the entrance fee should be 50c; each player, in this, the initial season, to provide his own uniform, which was chosen as blue jerseys with white accessories.

Every business man in town will be approached with regard to contributing, patronising, or taking a share in the activities of the club. Those interested should be present at the next meeting, Friday (tomorrow) evening in C. E. Reiber's office, or should communicate with the chairman, W. R. Hartley at the Pioneer office. A practice game will be held on the local ball diamond previous to the meeting, at which the selection committee are requested to be present.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the acting chairman, Henry Banks, and also to Mr. Carl Brightman for use of the meeting room.

The club wishes to thank all the merchants and business men for the donation of $13.00, part of which went towards the purchase of a new ball, and hope to justify their continued support.

Correspondence.

The following letter was received recently from Wood's Christian Home by Miss Kathleen Adshead, secretary of the Sunbeam Club (Mrs. Tighe's and Mrs. Phillipson's classes of the Knox United Church Sunday School) and is self-explanatory:

My Dear Miss Adshead,

Will you please thank the girls in your Sunbeam Club for the lovely quilt their kind hands made for the children at the Home. When we were living at Olds the friends at Didsbury were very kind to the children, perhaps some of your mothers. I do appreciate all they have done, and what you young girls have done at this time. I thank you all again.

Yours very sincerely,
Mrs. Wood.

Where Dreams Come True

NOT much has been said about the fishing near Banff Springs Hotel in the Rocky Mountains, probably because when visitors had finished "writing home" about the scenery, facilities for golf, tennis, and swimming, mountains to be climbed on foot or horse, the health-giving qualities of the air, and the fun to be found there the year round, there were no suitable descriptive words left for the fish.

But many types of fighting fish abound in the nearby lakes and streams. Minnewanka, the lake of Indian legends, frozen over for a week after the opening of the fishing season, made a glorious start on the new season by producing more than 565 pounds of trout in two days.

Bill Hall, of Banff, led the parade with two trout, the larger one a fisherman's dream tipping the scales at 40½ pounds, and the other registering a more usual 20½ pounds. He was out for only an hour and a quarter in the early afternoon from the time of the first cast until the second fish was landed, despite the fact that the pair put up 30 and 40-minute fights.

Visitors have also made good catches this year. On the same day sportsmen got eight fish averaging about 18 pounds each, and in two days another party of visitors caught 360 pounds of lake trout, running from five to 25 pounds, with the average about 18 pounds.

While catches like these are not at all uncommon in the West, it has been discovered fairly recently that trolling is not at all necessary to get the big ones. Visitors at the Canadian Pacific Railway hotels at Banff Springs and at Lake Louise, as well as at the many bungalow camps throughout the Rockies, learn soon after their arrival that there are fine fishing grounds in the near vicinity.

Burnside Notes.

Born, on Tuesday, June 25th, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCulloch, a daughter.

Mr. Geo. Metz was a weekend visitor in Calgary.

Mrs. Charles Marden gave a delightful tea to about 25 ladies of the district at her home on Tuesday afternoon of this week in honor of Mrs. Albert Arlenson who was celebrating her third wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlenson are leaving for Edmonton as soon as school closes, where Mr. Arlenson will attend summer school at the university. Mr. Arlenson has taught successfully in Burnside school district for seven years. We are glad to hear he is returning after the holidays to commence his eighth term.

Bob and Lewis Spraggs of Hythe, and other relatives here and left on Monday for a visit to points in B.C.

Lone Pine baseball team went to Forrington last week and beat the Forrington Intermediates to the une of 12-3.

Mr. Stanley Coyne spent Sunday with Mr. Geo. Metz.

Lone Pine W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Harry Richardson on Thursday last. There was a very good attendance in spite of the rain and bad roads. It was decided to hold a course in advanced dressmaking in the hall July 23, 24 and 25th to which all the ladies in the district are most cordially invited.

A whist drive will be held this Friday evening, June 28 at the home of Mrs. J. Topley.

Mr. Sidney Gilson, teacher at Jutland School, will leave next week for Edmonton where he will take a special course at the summer school. We are pleased to hear that Mr. Gilson has been re-engaged for another year at Jutland.

Calgary Stampede.

The 1935 Calgary Exhibition and Stampede will celebrate two memorable events, the 50th anniversary of the Stampede and the Diamond Jubilee of the arrival at Calgary of the North West Mounted Police, and the President, Directors and Management have planned to make the show the most outstanding one of its history.

On Monday, July 8th, Major Gen.
Sir James H. MacBrien, K.C.B., C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will officially open the Stampede, and the Mounted Police contribution to the show will be the famous Mounted Police Musical Ride from Regina, which will be given at each day's programme.

The opening item of a thrilling week's entertainment will be the Stampede Parade with its miles of Indians, Old Timers, Cowboys (riding and driving over 1,200 horses), twenty bands, and this year's added attractions: a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and the 91st Highlanders' Band from Hamilton, Ontario, one of Canada's foremost musical organizations.

"Fascinations of 1935," the gorgeous stage production will delight grandstand audiences each evening.
The programme will include a colorful revue, a number of the most outstanding vaudeville acts, and Billy Lorette, the favorite clown, whose antics provide mirth and merriment.

The Calgary Stampede will be bigger and better than ever with an added chuck wagon race on Saturday night. A number of valuable special prizes have again been included in the $10,000 Stampede prize list. Last year's entries were the most numerous in the history of the Stampede, the number being over 600, which it is believed is the largest entry at any stampede ever held anywhere.

There will be seven days' running horse races starting the Saturday prior to Exhibition dates.

The Friday morning livestock review will undoubtedly draw the largest crowd in the history of this exclusive Calgary feature. In addition to the stock parade, vaudeville numbers, Billy Lorette, the draw for the valuable prizes to be given away, carrier pigeon race starting from the platform to Edmonton, the 91st Highlanders' Band will be in attendance and the musical ride will be presented, including tentpegging and section riding as a special treat for the young people.

Girls and boys, 16 and under, are admitted free to this programme.

One of the most interesting exhibits of the Chicago World's Fair, the General Electric "House of Magic" will be a sensation. At this exhibit you will see sound, hear light and witness other startling electrical surprises.

The Royal American Shows, so popular last year, will again provide fun on the Midway.

The week's celebrations will close with a marvellous programme Saturday night, including an extra chuck wagon race, the "Fascinations of 1935," presentation of prizes to Stampede champions, colorful parade of gorgeously dressed Indians and last, but not least, Canada's largest one-night display of fireworks. At the close of the fireworks programme, there will be a march-past of the Mounted Police Veterans and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, headed by a band of over one hundred instruments.

31st Annual Convention.

The 31st anniversary of the Alberta Union of Municipalities will be celebrated on June 27 and 28, when the annual convention will be held in Calgary. W. A. Austin, secretary-treasurer, and J. E. Good-

Gift For Chief Guide

Lady Baden-Powell Receives Standard As Token Of Loyalty

Lady Baden-Powell, Chief of the Girl Guides of the World, is privileged to use her own special standard.

In 1922 some of the English County Commissioners planned to make a standard for the Chief Guide, and a small committee was formed. Overseas Commissioners of Provinces and States joined the County Commissioners. Each emblem was worked, and all were gathered together and mounted. The Standard is a token of loyalty and regard to the Chief Guide.

The Emblems are as follows: The Trefoil in gold on blue—the Guide Emblem showing the three promises. The blue sea has silver waves and dolphins, with three ships sailing forth to the end of the earth to carry the Guide Movement to all parts of the world. Also in the midst of the sea is the Gold Fish which the Chief Guide alone wears.

Then there are red motto bands—the red for cheerfulness, and the mottoes are, on the other side, "Be Prepared," and on the other, "Ar nyd pw Pwll pyd yw," the Powell motto in Welsh, meaning "Where there is a Powell there is safety."

Between the motto bands is a space of green and white triangles, and they are the tents of the Guide camps on the green grass, referring to the outdoor side of Guide life.

In the fly are two fine lions, and these are the Baden and Powell crests. It is not possible for a woman to have a crest, as they are worn on a man's helm in battle, but here they are, to turn Guides' thoughts to their great founder, who in his leadership and comradeship for the Scout and Guide Movement has been so splendidly helped by the Chief Guide.

Newest Naval Weapon

Germany Has Already Constructed 450 "Vest Pocket" Warships

Re-arming Germany's newest naval weapon—swift "vest pocket" torpedo boats as revolutionary as her "vest pocket" battleships—was revealed recently.

Foreign naval experts said the Reich already has constructed 450 tiny speed boats, capable of 60 knots each, and manned by five men and carrying four torpedoes.

A second, similar development, the experts said, is another speed boat twice as large, carrying 10 men and having an operating range of almost 2,000 miles.

Naval observers, asserting the new craft would give other powers much food for thought as the Reich's recently disclosed plans to build 250-ton submarines, listed these major advantages of the craft:

Their cost is little and their operation economical; their crew is small; they are so small and can change direction so fast they would be hard to hit; their four torpedoes, with any kind of luck, can do damage to enemy ships.

Young Scientist Returns

Englishman Finishes Two Years Study In The North

Two lonely years in the Arctic are over for T. P. Manning, youthful British scientist who made studies in the distant north for the British Geographical Society.

Travelling alone, the young Englishman came trudging into Churchill from Southampton Island, 500 miles north of there.

Modest and more than a bit bashful, Manning was not talkative about his sojourn in the Arctic through two summers and winters. His studies were extensive, including even fauna of the region.

Most of his two years in the Arctic was spent alone on Southampton Island, a Hudson's Bay Company post point where he obtained supplies. His long trek out was made without a companion. With a team of four dogs, he hit southward.

On the journey he crossed 40 miles of dangerous ice floe between Southampton Island and Chesterfield inlet. Then he followed the ice along the coast south, making the journey into Churchill without mishap.

Best Advertising Medium

Newspapers During 1934 Received Largest Share Of Allotments

Newspapers during 1934 received 61.8 per cent. of $223,216,520 sent by 367 national advertisers during 1934 according to an analysis released by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The report showed that magazines received 25 per cent. of the total amount, while chain broadcasting received 13.2 per cent.

Compared with 1933, when the bureau analysis covered the appropriations of 351 advertisers spending $185,706,924, the current analysis showed both a greater number of national advertisers as well as a higher individual expenditure.

A Treasured Souvenir

Naval Officer Has Golden Jubilee Gift From Queen Victoria

While the empire celebrates the King's silver jubilee, Harry Davis, of Victoria, B.C., regards with pride a tiny brown beer jug, made at the command of Queen Victoria for her golden jubilee in 1887.

The souvenir was one of a limited number presented by the queen to officers of the royal navy. The mould has long since been destroyed. Raised figures in white on the side of the jug depict Queen Victoria on her throne and the many sections of the British Empire.

World Is Getting Better

The Amherstburg Echo says the jail at Mooretown, Ontario, is to be sold by auction because it has held no prisoners for forty years. Turnkeys at Sandwich had to wash dishes because there were no prisoners to do it. There was no cook in the Winnipeg jail because of a lack of prisoners of that category. The world's improving.

Some Strange Customs

Ethnologist Tells About Queer Ideas Of African Tribes

Frederick G. Carnochan, ethnologist, has returned to New York from an Africa sojourn and explained, among other things, how the Wonyamwest tribes christen their babies by the sneeze method and what happens to a tribesman's wife when her spouse gets hurt in the hunt.

At a christening ceremony, he said, the high priest holds the baby and calls off the names of its ancestors. When the child sneezes as it invariably does, it is an indication that an ancestor's soul has entered its body and the baby takes the name of the ancestor thus saluted.

When a member of the tribe is hurt on a hunt, said Carnochan, the wife is blamed and is given a knock on the back of the head to make amends.

An Interesting Test

Shows More Boys Are Color Blind Than Girls

One boy in ten is color blind. This is the discovery of Dr. James Drever, professor of psychology in University of Edinburgh, made in tests of pupils in public schools.

"This can have tragic consequences," says the professor, "especially as now winking red, green and amber lights control the traffic and these children are the future drivers of motor vehicles."

The figures represent a 100 per cent. increase over previous calculations.

"It is a serious thing to discover that 12 boys out of 120 might confuse the 'stop' and 'go' signals of traffic lights," he said.

"Nothing can be done to cure color blindness. If it is possible to correct confusion between certain colors with spectacles, the result is that other colors become confused."

"A similar number of girls was tested, but in only one instance was there defective color sense."

It has been found that while fewer girls are color-blind, color-blindness is transmitted to children from mothers rather than fathers. The mother of colorblind children often isn't so afflicted herself.

Cows Attend Banquet

Two Bovines Are Guests At Luncheon In New York

Members of the American Guernsey Cattle Club sat down to their annual luncheon at New York with two of their most distinguished proteges, who mooed and bellowed throughout.

The guests of honor, Iceberg and Foremost Southern Maid, ate grass and took bows from a centre table in the banquet hall of a midtown hotel.

It was Iceberg's first glimpse of civilization. He was born on the edge of the Antarctic circle with the Admiral Byrd expedition. Foremost Southern Maid is one of the three cows the expedition took along to furnish milk to the men.

At the luncheon the gold medal awarded to Admiral Byrd by the club for "distinguished service to the dairy industry" was received by Lieutenant-Commander G. O. Noville in the absence of his chief.

The two bovines, accustomed to the hazards of an adventurous life, took the whole proceedings much more calmly than the jittery bellhops pressed into service as cow hands for the occasion.

Had Exciting Trip

Young Englishman Found Plenty Of Adventure On Journey

In search of adventure, G. Savage, a young Manchester man, left England 18 months ago with only $1 in his pocket. He has just arrived back in the liner President Harding from America. In Egypt he was arrested as an Army deserter, and spent four days in prison. In Malaya he won a boxing contest, but had to flee for his life from native spectators who said he had fouled their champion. In Colorado he went in for a rodeo contest and won a rifle and a pair of gauntlets. Even with the present rate of exchange of the pound and the dollar, he could hardly have expected much more for four quarters.

High-Speed Steam Train

British Railroad Trying Experiment With New Fast Express

The following article appeared in "Coming Events in Britain": The London and North Eastern Railway have decided to operate a high-speed steam train between Newcastle and London timed to do the journey of 268 miles in four hours. The new train will be named "Silver Jubilee." The object is to ascertain whether the public demand for such limited trains of a high-speed character is sufficient to warrant their provision as a permanent feature.

Canadian macaroni imported into the British Isles has become so popular that this Canadian export has reached to within measurable distance of the big supplies from Italy and France.

GOLD

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

The use of gold dates from earliest times and it is probable that it was one of the first metals used by man. Native gold occurs in veins running through quartz rock and also in the beds of streams whose sands have been formed from the breaking down of such gold-bearing quartz. It has been discovered in nuggets which vary in size from a tiny pebble to a mass weighing over a hundred pounds. In the past few years the gold production of the world has amounted to about $400,000,000 annually. Of this amount South Africa produces over half.

Native gold is obtained in crude form by placer mining. The sand containing the gold is shaken or stirred in troughs of running water, called sluices. The sand is swept away leaving the heavier gold at the bottom of the sluice. Sometimes the sand containing the gold is washed away from its natural location into the sluices by powerful streams of water delivered under pressure from pipes. This method of securing gold is called hydraulic mining. In vein mining the gold-bearing quartz is stamped into fine powder in stamping mills and the gold is extracted by either the amalgamation or the cyanide process.

In the amalgamation process the powder containing the gold is washed over copper plates whose surfaces have been amalgamated with mercury. The gold sticks to the mercury or alloys with it, and after a time the gold and mercury are scraped off and the mixture is distilled. The mercury distills off leaving the gold behind in the retort ready for refining. The cyanide process depends upon the fact that gold is soluble in a solution of sodium cyanide in the presence of the oxygen of the air. The powder from the stamping mills is treated with a very dilute sodium cyanide solution which dissolves the gold. The gold is obtained from this solution by electrolysis.

Gold is a yellow metal which is 19.3 times as heavy as an equal volume of water. Gold is the most malleable and ductile of all the metals. Malleability is the property of a metal to be hammered or rolled into sheets and gold has been hammered out into sheets so thin that it requires 280,000 leaves placed one upon another to occupy the thickness of an inch, and furthermore one ounce can be hammered out so as to cover 189 square feet. Ductility is the property which most metals possess of being drawn out into wires and gold is so ductile that one ounce can be drawn into a wire about 50 miles long.

Pure gold is used as gold leaf. The metal is too soft to be used alone for other purposes and is alloyed with silver or copper. The fineness of gold is usually expressed in terms of carats, 24 carat gold being pure, while 18 carat (75 per cent.) is the grade used for the best jewelry.

Organization In Germany Provides Cruise At Low Cost

For a three-weeks' cruise to Madeira at a cost of only $6.25 a week, 3,000 German workers will shortly leave Berlin. The charge includes everything—fare, food, trips and tips and is one of the cheapest cruises in the world. It is organized by the "Strength Through Joy" movement, and the workers and their families will travel on German liners. Many of them have never seen the sea. Last year the "Strength Through Joy" movement sent 80,000 workers on sea voyages, and this year it is hoped to send 160,000.

Attempt To Refloat Ships At Bottom Of White Sea

Twenty ships resting at the bottom of the White Sea since the years of the Great War will again see the light of day according to the schedule of a special squad of engineers working day and night on plans for the refloating, cargo salvaging and junking. Although complete maps of the White Sea prepared at the port of Archangel exactly designate the resting places of no less than 114 ships which went down in the same period, only twenty are considered technically possible to salvage.

"Well, hardly," agreed Dad. "Is that all, Louise?"

"Very nearly. She says: 'Let me know what time Nancy will arrive at Colorado Springs, and I will send some trusty person to meet her with an automobile, as Pine Ridge is on a branch road and our only train leaves early in the morning. If no one greets her on arrival, instruct her, please, to sit quietly in the station until called for.'"

A girlish chuckle escaped Aunt Judy.

"You can check yourself in the parcel room, Nance! Proceed, Louise. I beg pardon for interrupting."

Jack winked at one aunt as the other retorted: "You're as bad as the children, Judith. But there's not much more. She says: 'I feel sure that this experience will improve your daughter.' How's that, James?"

Said Dad, with spirit: "Why on earth should she imagine that our Nancy needs improvement?"

"And how would she get it in a little one-horse western town?" asked Mother.

"This way," smiled Aunt Louise, reverting to the missive: "She would get away from the narrow New England viewpoint. She would learn something about the vastness of her country."

"I suppose she means those 'great open spaces' we read about," laughed Jack, while his aunt, ignoring him, continued:

"The milder climate would improve her health, and she would experience the satisfaction of being self-supporting. Please write at once, and believe me, dear James, your affectionate though unseen cousin, Columbine Nelson."

Aunt Louise looked up. "Well," she declared, drawing a deep breath, "I call that the—very limit!"

For this meticulous teacher of English to use an expression even remotely approaching slang, was an event in itself. Her family smiled; and Nance retorted: "It's plain, Aunt Lou, that this is an occasion when Webster's Unabridged is totally inadequate! Dad dear, how can this venerable lady be your first cousin? And did she acquire her outlandish name because columbines are the state flower of Colorado?"

"Better look up your history, my dear," replied her father. "Cousin Columbine must be over seventy and Colorado didn't become a state until 1876. I'll admit that I probably remember the date because it's also the year that I was born," he added honestly.

"But how," asked Jack, "did an uncle of yours land way off in the wild West, Dad?"

"You've heard the story numberless times, son."

"Not for a long while, and I never gave it any special thought. Seems queer for one lone member of a family to start off for the wilderness. How'd it happen?"

James Nelson glanced at his sister, and she said: "As I recall the story, Father's half-brother, Jethro Nelson, who was a good bit older than the others, possessed the wanderlust. He yearned to see something besides his native New Hampshire, and as his young wife was fired with the same ambition, they started West in a covered wagon, drawn by oxen unless my memory's at fault."

"Alone?" questioned the boy, leaning forward eagerly.

"Oh, no! There were three other wagons in the caravan, or whatever they called it. Part of those pioneers turned back somewhere in Kansas, frightened, I believe, by the immensity of the prairie. Others pushed on to California; but it was rumors of gold in the Colorado mountains that lured Uncle Jed in that direction, and unlooked-for circumstances which made him stop where he did. Of course it wasn't Pine Ridge then—just unsettled wilderness. But the journey had proved too hard on his wife, and instead of reaching some settlement, Denver or possibly Aurora (which was flourishing because of the gold rush) for the event, her baby was born in a covered wagon at the spot which was later to be called Pine Ridge."

"And that baby was Cousin Columbine?" asked Nancy.

Her aunt nodded, while Dad took up the narrative. "Here's where her name comes in, daughter. Early next morning Uncle Jed discovered some enormous blue and white columbines growing nearby and carried the whole clump in to the new mother. The story goes that she uttered an exclamation of rapture at their beauty, and cried out: 'Columbines! I know now what we'll call our little daughter!'"

"Do you suppose," asked Jack, "if he'd presented the lady with a cactus blossom she'd have named her baby Cactaceous?"

"Goodness gracious, boy, have you no sentiment?" reproved Aunt Judy. "And the fact that you've been studying botany cries aloud. Cactaceous! I never heard the word before."

"Nor I," admitted Mother. "But do you mean to say, Jim, that a man who possessed the wanderlust was content to stay right where Fate landed him for the rest of his natural life?"

"Indeed no," spoke up Aunt Louise, "and in my opinion Uncle Jed's poor wife had a lonely time of it. He was forever leaving her to seek gold, silver, and adventure. That was, I imagine, after other settlers joined them. Years later he did strike silver at Leadville; but his wife had died of hardship before that. I believe she never saw the 'mansion' Cousin Columbine's so proud of. Uncle Jed was the big man of the town in Pine Ridge then, though the place can't be much more than a settlement now. Anyway, it isn't on the map."

"And she expects us to send Nancy to a place like that?" gasped Mother. "I didn't realize it was so isolated."

"But it's home to Cousin Columbine," observed Aunt Judy, "and perhaps she's lonely."

"I wonder if she'd be satisfied with me?" suggested Jack. "I have a touch of this wanderlust myself."

"You'd make a swell dressmaker," jeered his sister; and then, being called to the telephone by one of the admirers of whom Cousin Columbine would disapprove, promptly forgot the matter.

CHAPTER III.

Now, meeting Jack's eager eyes as he perched on the foot of her antique four-poster, the memory of that family dinner all rushed back. Regardless of the cold air and a sleeveless pink crepe nightgown, Nance sat up, started, and stared at her brother in dismay.

"Why, Jack Nelson! You—you're not implying that I ought to go way off to Colorado just for a paltry twenty-five dollars a month, are you?"

"Pipe down," warned Jack, "or like as not Mother'll come butting in, and I want to talk things over with you first. I can't sleep, Nance. I keep thinking about Dad. You know how he is—always seeing the bright side of everything; but he admitted tonight that he was down and out. That means flat broke, doesn't it? And even if I got some sort of job it probably wouldn't much more than pay my car fares and lunches for a year or two. And there's you—simply a parlor ornament and—"

"Thanks," broke in his sister coldly, sliding down under the puff again. "You don't need to rub it in just now, do you?"

"I don't intend to rub in anything; but there's no need of side-stepping the truth, either. I suppose you could help Mother 'round the house some; but with Aunt Judy gone, and Aunt Lou home only Sundays, there won't be an awful lot to do. And I've a notion she'd rather keep busy anyway, so's not to think about things. I suppose she's just about heart-broken over you."

Nancy said nothing for a moment; then: "Do you think it will add to her happiness if I'm two thousand miles away, all alone, living with a queer old woman we've never seen, and dying of homesickness?"

"No," said Jack, "I think she'd worry herself sick. But if you weren't alone, Nance—if I went too—"

"You!" interrupted the girl, amazed. "Why, how do you know that Cousin Columbine would take you in?"

Jack hitched an inch or two nearer, his eyes bright with interest.

"I don't expect her to; but she might get me a job on some ranch, Sis. I've always been crazy to see the West; and with us both away earning our own living, things would be easier for Dad and Mother."

"But you said yourself, Jack, that what Cousin Columbine wanted was a slave!"

"Oh, forget it. I was just talking. If she's a woman come in every day the work can't kill you; and if I were near enough so we'd get together every little while, it wouldn't be so bad. And we'd be helping Dad, Nance. Honestly helping! He wouldn't even have to feed us!"

The girl gave way to a reluctant smile.

"Is my appetite as fearful a thing as that? Why you talk as if we'd have to apply to the Salvation Army for Christmas dinner! Dad can't be so hard up that we'll have to worry about food, Jack."

"But it costs less to support three than five, my dear. You can't get away from that. If you say the word I'll send an air mail letter to Cousin Columbine to-morrow. I'll explain what's happened, and ask if I can get a job out there. We needn't say a word to Mother until we hear from her. I'll ask her to telegraph."

Nancy looked at the boy curiously, as if she were observing a stranger. Jack was only seventeen and his sister had always regarded him with the tolerance nineteen bestows upon a younger brother. Now, suddenly, he seemed older than herself, for at the first hint of trouble he had put his shoulder to the wheel. It made Nancy feel a bit ashamed of herself; for she knew that it was not Jack's boyish curiosity to see the West which caused him to make this plan, but a genuine desire to help his father.

"Well?" he questioned with impatience.

The girl drew in a quivering breath.

"Do—do you think we must, Jack? I'll admit that the idea—terrifies me."

"Oh, be your age, Nance! We're not going into darkest Africa."

"I know; but it's so awfully far away. Suppose we got sick—had appendicitis or something."

Jack laughed softly.

"The only way you'll get appendicitis is by over-eating! We never have been sick—either of us—so why worry? I don't say it'll be all fun by any means; but we will be learning something about the country, as the old lady said; and it's not a life sentence. We'll come home soon as Dad gets his business straightened out. Be a sport, Sis, and let me write the letter."

"Without asking Dad—or Mother?"

He nodded.

"There'll be time enough to talk it over when we hear from Cousin Columbine. Like as not she'll veto the whole scheme; but even if they won't consent after we've made our plans, Nance, no harm will be done."

"Well," agreed Nancy with sudden resolution, "go on and write."

"That's the stuff!"

Jack slid his long legs off the bed and proceeded, as noiselessly as possible to open the windows again.

"Night, Sis. I knew you'd see sense after I showed it to you. And don't you dare let on we're up to anything. Just keep mum."

It was not so hard to "keep mum" as Nancy expected. The next few days were strenuous ones for the older members of the family, and the amusing letter from Colorado was completely forgotten. Jack, who did not return to Exeter on Monday, spent two of those days driving his mother and Aunt Judy to Edgemere in his beloved "Mary Ann," so they could look into conditions at the old home and decide what furniture must be sent out from the city.

Little Helps For This Week

I will praise Thee O Lord with my whole heart, I will show forth all Thy marvellous works. Psalm 9:1.

Thrice blest will all our blessings be,
When we can look through them to Thee;
When each glad heart its tribute pays
Of love, and gratitude and praise.

That which befits us, embossed in beauty and wonder as we are, is cheerfulness and courage, and the endeavor to realize our aspirations. Shall not the heart that has received so much trust the Power by which it lives? GRAIN EXCHANGE MAKES OFFER TO AID PROBE INTO OPERATIONS

Reveals Exchange Suggested Months Ago That Appointment of Pool Man as Government Supervisor Would be Welcomed.

In order to clarify its position in view of statements made at Ottawa, the Winnipeg Grain Exchange has issued the following statements:

"On Friday afternoon the Prime Minister in a speech in the House of Commons reiterated the allegation originally made by Mr. John I. McFarland last October that foreign grain firms were engaged in a bear raid in the Winnipeg market. This allegation was investigated by the Council of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and was fully answered in a statement issued and published in the press November 2, 1934, in the following terms:

"On October 1st Winnipeg newspapers carried an interview with Mr. John I. McFarland, who is in charge of the government's wheat operations, in which he stated that he would recommend to the government at Ottawa that an investigation be made into the selling of wheat on the Winnipeg market and would urge the government to make representations to the governments of Argentina and the United Kingdom that they take similar action in regard to the futures markets in Buenos Aires and Liverpool. About October 6th a mischievous despatch purporting to be the inside story of an organized bear raid on the Winnipeg grain market during the two previous weeks appeared in many of the leading newspapers throughout Canada. This despatch originated apparently from some newspaper service in Winnipeg. It made free use of Mr. McFarland's name and its contents would lead many people to believe that figures and supposed facts given in it must have originated from Mr. McFarland's organization. The article is inaccurate and misleading; there was no condition existing in the trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange that would justify such a story. It reads like fiction, and to the best of our knowledge that is just what it is. There is no evidence in the figures showing the market position of grain firms as at September 17th and October 1st, secured by the Council of the Exchange from the Clearing House, and which have been disclosed to Mr. McFarland, that any bear raid was attempted. Mr. McFarland has also been advised by the Council that the international firms whose names have been mentioned in this connection were ready to authorize the Clearing House to make the figures showing their trading available to him.

"The international investigation suggested by Mr. McFarland on October 1st should, in our opinion, not be lost sight of. There can be no argument about the fact that our greatest need is to export more Canadian wheat, and if there is any hope that an independent international investigation into the situation in the Canadian, Argentine and English markets will disclose anything in the actions of government agencies or individuals that is making it difficult for us to market our wheat abroad, it should be undertaken at once. It would obviously be in the interest of the whole country as well as of our wheat producers. It would, we are sure, be welcomed by the grain trade of Canada.

"The Council of the Exchange is prepared to afford facilities for investigation of the trading operations of all its members, without exception by competent and impartial persons, if such an investigation is deemed to be in the public interest, and has previously advised Mr. McFarland that the Exchange would, in addition, lend all possible assistance to a government supervisor of the kind recommended by the Stamp Commission should the government see fit to appoint one.

"The action of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in setting minimum prices for December and May wheat of 75c and 80c per bushel respectively was taken at the instance of the Dominion government and in pursuance of the policy the Exchange has consistently pursued of co-operating with the Dominion government, and government wheat agency."

"Following the issuance of this statement, Mr. W. Milner, the President, with the authority of the Council, advised Mr. McFarland that the Winnipeg Grain Exchange would welcome the appointment by the Dominion Government to the position of Grain Exchange supervisor, of George Melvor, who has been assistant to Mr. McFarland since December 1930, and who previously to that was General Sales Manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited (the Pool Central Selling Agency). The offer of the Council that it was prepared to afford facilities for investigation of the trading operations of all its members, without exception, and as to the appointment of a Grain Exchange supervisor, as suggested by the Stamp Commission, has never been withdrawn. Representatives of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange now in Ottawa are prepared and anxious to appear before the special committee of the House of Commons, which has just been appointed, to meet the allegations which have been made with reference to the bear raid and the supposed present short position, and to supply any information which the committee may require."
